Under 5K Crowd: Cable Pushes to Expand Eligibility for Dual-Carriage Waiver

When FCC chmn Kevin Martin informed the ACA last month of his proposal to automatically exempt cable systems that are 552Mhz or smaller from FCC rules requiring them to pass along must-carry broadcasters' HD signals (and a dualcarriage mandate), he mentioned nothing about exempting systems with 5K subs or fewer. That was something the industry had argued for, and NCTA is continuing to pursue. In a recent filing at the FCC, the cable trade assoc described its "urgent plea" that these systems be included in an exemption to the requirement to carry HD or SD signals of mustcarry stations as long as the digital signal is converted to analog and viewable to all subs. "Where a system has 5K or fewer subscribers, there may be too few customers to justify the additional cost necessary to carry the digital signals of must carry broadcasters in digital, too," NCTA said, noting that the Commission exempted systems under 5K from Emergency Alerting System rules because of costs, which were "much less." It appears that larger MSOs will be most impacted by the 5K sub exemption. "Most ACA members operate analog-only systems or hybrid analog-digital systems of less than 552 MHz where the FCC's relief would apply. However, we realize other companies may have systems with less than 5,000 subscribers and more than 552 MHz capacity where Commission review is on point in this process," ACA pres/CEO Matt Polka said. The FCC is basing the exemption proposal on a section of the Communications Act that ensures carriage of must-carry stations "to the extent technically feasible." NCTA argues that the FCC has interpreted technical feasibility in the past to include the consideration of costs. Meanwhile, cable continues to push the FCC to act quickly to exempt small systems from the dual-carriage obligation. The item is currently on circulation, but it's not on the May 14 open meeting agenda (Commissioners could vote for it before the meeting, however).

Martin's Management: So, is FCC chmn Kevin Martin blocking or degrading as he engages in agency management? That's the question we're asking after a House Oversight and Investigations subcmte staff memo to House Commerce chmn John Dingell (D-MI) and Oversight chmn Bart Stupak (D-MI) came to light. "The bottom line is that the FCC process appears broken and most of the blame appears to rest with Chairman Martin. We propose hearings in June," the memo concludes. House Commerce ordered the subcommittee to investigate earlier this year following complaints about how the FCC is conducting itself. Staff said they have conducted more than 30 interviews with current and former FCC employees, as well as with industry reps and private citizens in the ongoing investigation. An FCC spokesman declined comment. One of the issues that sparked the FCC probe was allegations by a fellow FCC commissioner that Martin suppressed data that would contradict that the so-called 70/70 test had been met—though some might argue he only delayed the traffic—er, data—since Commissioners did eventually receive it after they asked for it. The subcommittee is also examining the reversal of an '04 Media Bureau report that determined a la carte wasn't a good idea. Following complaints about the FCC's openness, Martin has begun

Time Warner Shakeup: Time Warner CEO Jeff Bewkes is expected to announce plans Wed for a spinoff of Time Warner Cable, a development that would end the TW/TWC talks on the subject mentioned by Bewkes in Feb and likely please TWX shareholders. The speculation helped shares of both TWX (+1.1%) and TWC (+2.7%) achieve healthy gains Tues. Citigroup expects a transaction involving a 1-time special dividend from TWC of approx $6/ share and the distribution by Time Warner of its existing stake in TWC to existing TWX equity holders. The Times of London posits the spinoff will release approx $3.8bln in cash that TWX will likely use to repurchase stock.

Deals: Gemstar-TV Guide stockholders approved the merger of Gemstar with Macrovision, with more than 90% of outstanding shares voting in favor of the transaction. The merger is expected to take effect Fri. Expect the rumblings over what Gemstar assets might be sold off (such as TV Guide Network) to ratchet up a notch.

Crown Me: Hallmark sewing up its final renewal with a major distributor might help explain the hefty $1.7mln bonus Crown pres/CEO Henry Schleiff received for '07. The bonus was in addition to his $1mln base salary and $487K in stock awards and $1.4mln in option awards, according to Crown's proxy. On Thurs, Crown announced that Cablevision renewed its distribution agreement with Hallmark and Hallmark Movie Channel. CVC has the right to distribute both the SD and HD versions of Hallmark Movie. Hallmark previously reached renewal agreements with Comcast, Time Warner Cable and DirecTV.

Competition: NYC's Dept of Info Tech and Telecom has approved Verizon's citywide video franchise proposal for FiOS TV, which must still be approved by the city's Franchise and Concession Review Cmte and the state's PSC. VZ agreed to the following: the max 5% franchise fee, a $10mln grant to NYC TV and increased funding to community access orgs, and a $4mln grant to expand public access to tech. -- AT&T has expanded U-verse to some local Atlanta communities.

In the States: Comcast has increased the speeds of its business class Internet service tiers to max out at 16Mbps (download) and 2Mbps (upload). Also, the MSO overhauled its VOD system in South FL to increase programming.

Beta: 56% of cable subs named the Discovery Channel as one of their favorite basic channels, according to the latest Beta Research survey. Food Net (53%), HGTV (48%), History (47%), and Nat Geo (46%) rounded out the top 5. 76% of basic subs also described Discovery as "entertaining," helping the net tie with Comedy Central for top billing in basic cable. Animal Planet (74%), Disney Channel (72%) and Food (72%) also fared well on the entertainment meter. As for the nets that cable subs would very much like to see in HD, Nat Geo (54%) kept Discovery (50%) from winning a 3rd category. ESPN (48%), ESPN2 (48%) and Speed (47%) ensued.

Ratings: While Showtime's "Dexter" continues to perform well Sun nights on CBS (6.69mln total viewers over 10 telecasts), USA's "Monk" and particularly "Psych" aren't faring nearly as well on NBC the same night. Through Sun, 4 airings of "Monk" have averaged 5.59mln total viewers in the 8pm ET slot, while an equal number of "Psych" eps have averaged 3.93mln total viewers in the 9pm ET slot. It's important to remember, though, that competition is stiff on Sun's and that NBC's viewership is lagging overall. -- USA (2.1/2.06mln) easily took home the prime viewership trophy for Apr, as 3 WWE telecasts hit the month's top 10. Disney (1.8/1.73mln) and TNT (1.8/1.73mln) tied for 2nd
